Additional information

Every computer is regularly kept up to date and functional. Every semester, all of the equipment is inspected for wear and tear and either replaced or repaired. Faculty members check that the necessary software and equipment are available before each semester starts to ensure that the labs run smoothly. The hardware and licensed software in the labs are adequate to run both program specific and off-program curriculum. There are enough personal computers available to run the lab efficiently. The size and quantity of the labs and classrooms adhere to AICTE guidelines. Every department in the institution has a well-equipped laboratory and first-rate infrastructure.
